Dear Kohji,

I assume you will send me your draft presentation re the reviewed article from Japan tonight. What are your key messages from your short review?

In response to your email dated Apr. 09, 2000:

- I cannot help with a decision which article to pick. If they are related, it may be an idea to include both into your review, pointing to their similarities and differences.
- Would it be helpful for the scientific audience to put these articles into context? What do they indicate re the scientific interest in Japan at this time?
- How do these papers advance the understanding of mechanisms and why is this important?

Looking forward to your draft.
Roger
